

Bogs Rue Garden Shoe: Things I Love

by KATHY PURDY on AUGUST 5, 2013 · 27 COMMENTS

in THINGS I LOVE

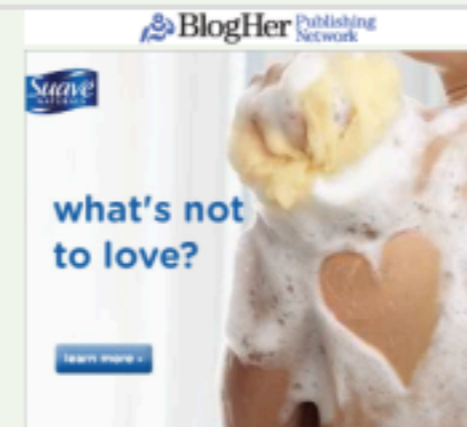

A couple of months ago, I was asked if I would like to review a pair of Bogs' garden shoes. Frankly, I wasn't sure.

I don't rue the day I received a pair of Bogs' Rue garden shoes. They are fun and practical.

A few years back my daughter had bought a pair and was never happy with the fit. She said they were too snug on the top of her foot. She and I wear the same shoe size, but she wears a narrow and I wear an extra-wide, so I've always been leery of trying them. But the Bogs representative told me

There have definitely been a lot of adjustments made over the past few years. I think you will be pleased with the fit. A few things to keep in mind Bogs only run in whole sizes, so I always recommend going a half size up. My mom has a wide foot (wears a 7.5) and she has 8's in the Rue and loves them (wears them everywhere). We have had feedback however that if someone has a high in-step they can get a bit snug on top...so something to keep in mind. If you know you have a high in-step, I would recommend staying away from the Classics and going with a newer style (built on a different last so they have a different fit). Consider trying the Harper, Rue, or Rose...All Bogs though are now built to accommodate wide feet because they're wide in the toe box and narrow in the heel.

AdChoices | Advertise | Privacy

SUBSCRIBE

Click here to subscribe in a feed reader

ADVERTISEMENT